Ripples are constantly in motion. Your actions today will determine who you become in five to ten years. A quiet thought, a simple word, or even a small action will trigger a cascade of effects. So, live intentionally. Live modestly.

May the ripples you make create gentle waves that hold the gaze of people for a beat longer, a stroll along the shore a little more pleasant, and add a little more vibrance to life.

PRINCIPAL, KOHIMA CAMPUS

At the very outset I give thanks to Almighty God for his unceasing love and mercy upon the staff and students of Baptist College even this academic year and for enabling us to produce another batch of students who will be soon graduating from the college. I also wish to express my sincere appreciation to both the teaching and non-teaching staff for your unwavering support, dedication, hard work and commitment for the well-being of our students and for ensuring that our students receive the best education possible. I also wish to express my special thanks to the Yearbook team for always willing to go the extra mile and for the relentless effort that has gone into the making of this Year Book 2026.

To the outgoing students, as you stand at the crossroad and get ready to step out from the protected walls of your college life into the outside world filled with surprises and challenges, I wish to remind you that every single step you take now, especially the exam that is about to take place is very vital in achieving your future goals. Becoming the very best you can be is life's most noble pursuit. There is nothing more nobler than learning to explore the unlimited potential that lies within you and becoming the best that you can be. The first step to a life of happiness and success is to see that your outside world begins with your inside world because today's actions build tomorrow's dreams.

Remember that no path is free of challenges and obstacles. This is the way of nature. Little hurdles and difficulties appear to offer you opportunities to refine and expand yourself. Think of all the wonderful opportunities that your college offered and be grateful to God for all the blessings that your college and the teachers brought to you. Always believe in yourself and have faith in your abilities. The key to success is to run your own race without comparing yourself and your progress with others.

The college has given you the best academics, provided you with the necessary tools to improve your skills and elevated ethics and values in you besides leading you in the path of spirituality. Hope you will use your life skills efficiently and effectively to your advantage as you step out in to a competitive world which is full of opportunities. Let me also remind you with the famous proverb 'man proposes but God disposes'. Remember that man strives hard to achieve his goals by putting forth all his efforts, but there is a limit for the abilities of man. Therefore, always put God first in everything that you do and He will surely guide you and direct your path towards your destination. What you are in God's gift to you and what you become is your gift to God.

Finally, I want to say thank you to each and everyone of you for choosing Baptist College and being a part of our family though your stay was a short one. My best wishes to you as you pursue your dreams and ambitions in life.

In Excelsis.

VICE PRINCIPAL, KOHIMA CAMPUS

As this chapter of your journey comes to a close, it's a moment to reflect on everything you have achieved - your hard work, your resilience and the countless memories you have created along the way. Each of you has grown in your own unique way, overcoming challenges and embracing opportunities that have shaped who you are today.

Congratulations on reaching this milestone. It's not just a celebration of academic success but of determination, friendships and experiences that have defined your time here.

As you step into the future, carry forward the lessons you've learned, the values you've built and the confidence that you are capable of achieving great things. The road ahead may be uncertain but it is also full of possibilities waiting for you to explore.

Wishing you all the very best in your future endeavours. May you continue to dream big, work hard and make a positive difference wherever life takes you and never stop learning.

May God bless each and everyone of you.

VICE PRINCIPAL, SECHŪ CAMPUS

I pen this message with a heart filled with both joy and poignancy. It is a moment of immense pride and satisfaction to witness the sixth semester students of B.A. and B.Com. (2023-2026 batch) successfully completing their remarkable journey at Baptist College. At the same time, it is accompanied by a deep sense of loss, as your presence, energy, and contributions will be profoundly missed.

I extend my sincere and heartfelt appreciation to each one of you for your unwavering dedication and your commendable contributions to both the academic and extracurricular life of the college. The moments of joy we shared, the spirit of unity we nurtured, and your selfless commitment to the growth and enrichment of the institution will forever remain cherished in our hearts.

Life is shaped by the choices we make. Who you are today is a reflection of the choices you made yesterday, and who you will become tomorrow depends on the choices you make today. At every stage of life, you will be faced with decisions that define your path and purpose. Your future will be determined by the clarity of your vision and your steadfast commitment to pursuing your goals with diligence and integrity. Those who truly succeed are those who choose wisely and persevere with consistency, discipline, and determination.

As you step into a new chapter of life, may the living God bless you abundantly, guide your path, and grant you wisdom and strength in all your future endeavours. May you find success, fulfillment, and purpose in every step of your journey.

With my best wishes and prayers for your bright future.

CHAPLAIN, BCF

As you stand on the edge of a new world that awaits you, I recall the words from Jeremiah 29:11: "For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

You have been under a protective umbrella here at Baptist College, but now it is time to spread your wings and fly beyond the horizon to the places where God has called you. As I always tell you, do not settle for mediocrity; rise above the standard, pursue excellence, and be the example that others will want to follow.

As your Chaplain, I encourage you to TRUST GOD. Seek Him in all your ways. You may be confused about your life and the future ahead of you, but God is not. He knows exactly what to do with your life. Trust Him-He will do what is best for you.

SERVE with COMPASSION. You have done a great job serving the community in the various capacities given to you. Carry the values you have learned here into your new world, wherever that may be. The world is already so toxic and hurtful; may you choose to be compassionate to everyone around you, even when it is difficult.

BE the LIGHT. You have the ability to inspire those around you. Do not think of yourself as insignificant or unworthy. You are enough-more than enough-and you can be a light to those in darkness. Do not be afraid or shy to shine brightly, because that is exactly why you were created: to be the LIGHT so that your Father in Heaven will be made known.

You are not merely leaving; you are being sent out with prayers and blessings.

Remember your roots, and know that you will always have a home here. My office doors will always be open for you. GO LIGHT THE WORLD.

The LORD bless you and keep you.

OUTGOING PRESIDENT, BCF, SECHŪ CAMPUS

At the outset, I give all glory and honour to God for His unfailing grace and faithfulness.

I would also like to sincerely thank Sir Momo for giving me the opportunity to be a part of BCF. It has truly been a privilege and a blessing to serve in this wonderful fellowship.

BCF has become an integral part of the college, bringing transformation in the lives of many students both within the campus and through camps, where many have personally experienced and encountered God. It has played a vital role in ministry by drawing students closer to Him and shaping individuals into better versions of themselves through meaningful character formation and spiritual growth.

Being a part of BCF, we are guided to nurture and grow in three essential aspects of our lives academic, spiritual, and social. It encourages us to strive for excellence in our studies, deepen our relationship with God, and build meaningful relationships through fellowship, unity, and mutual encouragement.

Through various programs, prayers, and moments of fellowship, I have experienced immense growth, joy, and a deep sense of belonging. My three-year journey in BCF has been one of the most meaningful and cherished parts of my college life. It has not only strengthened my faith and drawn me closer to God but has also built my confidence and helped me become a better version of myself.

Serving in BCF as a Vice President and later as President has taught me the true meaning of leadership, responsibility, and unity in Christ. It has developed my ability to lead with humility and strengthened my commitment to serve others with love, compassion, and dedication.

I am deeply grateful to Sir Momo, the leaders, seniors, and friends who have been a constant source of encouragement, support, and inspiration throughout this journey. Thank you, Sir Momo, for everything, you have been my greatest supporter. Thank you for always encouraging and appreciating me, and for making me feel valued and seen. I will forever remain grateful to you.

As we move forward, I encourage each one of you to be committed to the fellowship, to attend faithfully and participate wholeheartedly, and to use this platform as an opportunity to grow spiritually, serve others selflessly, and become a true reflection of Christ in your daily lives.

May BCF continue to be a light and a blessing to many, touching and transforming lives for His glory.

May God bless us all abundantly.

OUTGOING PRESIDENT, BCF, KOHIMA CAMPUS

Serving as the President of the Baptist College Fellowship has been one of the greatest blessings and most meaningful experiences of my time at Baptist College.

First of all, I give all glory and honor to our Almighty God for granting me this opportunity.

As I look back to the day I first began my time at Baptist College, it feels surreal to realize that this chapter has already come to an end. My years here have been filled with countless moments that have gone far beyond what I ever expected.

I sincerely thank all the faculty members for their dedication and commitment to teaching us with patience and for always striving to give us the very best. I would also like to extend my sincere appreciation to the non-teaching staff of Baptist College. Your hard work, support, and contributions behind the scenes have played an important role in making our time here comfortable and meaningful. Thank you for serving the college community with such dedication.

During my time at Baptist College, my involvement in the Baptist College Fellowship has truly been a gift. From the bottom of my heart, I express my deepest gratitude to our Chaplain, Sir. Tamreimung Chüsi, a wonderful man of God, for welcoming me into his big family and allowing me to serve, grow, and strengthen my spiritual life throughout these years. Thank you, Sir, for your constant encouragement and for believing in me. Your guidance has shaped me into the person I am today, and I will carry those lessons with me for the rest of my life.

The fellowship has been my safe haven and second home, a place where I found a deep sense of belonging. This small room holds countless stories. It is not just a place-within these walls hearts were healed, silent tears were heard, and lives were transformed while we learned valuable lessons together.

Every moment spent here will always remain close to my heart. And though we may walk different paths from here, a part of our hearts will always remain in this little fellowship room where our faith grew, our tears were heard, and our lives were forever changed.

To my graduating batchmates, thank you for the wonderful times and the strong bond we have built together. As we close this chapter of our lives, let us remember the days we shared, the lessons we gained, and the friendships that made this experience so special. I pray that we will continue to pursue our dreams with passion, achieve the goals we once hoped for, and always shine for the Lord in everything we do.

Although my time here is coming to an end, I encourage each one of you to treasure every moment, make the most of your days here, and leave with hearts full and without regrets. As I step forward into the next season of life, I carry with me not only cherished experiences but also the love, faith, and friendships that were formed here. Baptist College and the Baptist College Fellowship will forever hold a special place in my heart. Even as we go our separate ways, the lessons we learned and the connections we built will remain with us always.

May God continue to guide and bless each one of us in the journey ahead.

OUTGOING PRESIDENT, STUDENT COUNCIL

Serving as the Student Council President has been one of the greatest honors and responsibilities of my college journey. As I look back on my years in this institution, I feel deeply grateful for the opportunities, friendship, and experiences that have shaped me into the person I am today.

When I first stepped into this college, I came with hopes, dreams, and a little uncertainty about what the future would hold. Over time, this place became more than just academic institution, it became a community where I discovered my potential, learned valuable lessons, and formed bonds that will remain with me for a lifetime.

Being entrusted with the responsibility of leading the Student Council has been a truly humbling experience. It allowed me to work alongside dedicated council members, supportive faculty, and enthusiastic students who continuously inspired me with their commitment and cooperation. Together, we organized programs, overcome challenges and created moments that will always remain special memories.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to our respected Principal, faculty members, and staff for their constant guidance and encouragement. Their wisdom and support have played an important role in shaping not only my leadership but also the growth of every student in this institution.

To my fellow council members and colleagues, thank you for your teamwork, patience, and dedication. Your collective efforts made every initiative possible, and it has been a privilege to work with such passionate individuals.

To the juniors, I encourage you to make the most of your time here. College life is a unique journey filled with opportunities to explore your talents, build friendships and grow both academically and personally. Be courageous enough to chase your dreams, and never hesitate to step forward and take responsibility.

To my fellow graduating classmates, congratulations on reaching this milestone. Our time here may be coming to an end, but the lessons, memories, and friendships we have built will remain with us wherever life takes us. As we step into the next chapter of our lives, let us carry forward the values and experiences that this college has given us.

To conclude, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to this wonderful institution for nurturing us and guiding us toward a brighter future. The memories created within these halls will always remain close to our hearts.

Long live Baptist College! May every future generation continue to pursue excellence and uphold its proud legacy.

In excelsis!

CR's Message

Baue Jemphang COMMERCE

Being a class representative is basically like being the unofficial CEO of chaos management. Every day came with a new episode, plot twists in schedules, surprise assignments, and dramatic messages like "CR, is class cancelled?" as if I have insider government secrets. Deadlines became my personal enemies, forwarding messages became my hobby, and "Please remind everyone" became my life motto. But somewhere between all the chaos, confusion, and countless "CR pls confirm" texts, this role turned into something more. It became a front-row seat to all the laughter, teamwork, and unforgettable moments we shared as a class.

Wishing you all a future as bright as a field of flowers and a new chapter full of bright beginnings.

Pokyemienla Walling COMMERCE

Being the class representative this year wasn't just a role, it was an experience I'll genuinely carry with me. It taught me patience, responsibility, and how to handle situations I never expected to be in. This year was not perfect, and that was what made it real. There were challenges, last-minute moments, and at times things did not go as planned, but we always found a way through together. Somewhere between all of that, we created memories that actually mattered.

I'm grateful for the trust you all placed in me and for the way we showed up for each other when it counted-- Imperfect, unpredictable but unforgettable.

Good luck to all of you, may you achieve more than you ever imagined.

To my fellow mates ,as we stand at the threshold of our final days in college- three incredible years that flew by in a whirlwind of laughter, late-night studies, and unbreakable bonds-it's bittersweet to say goodbye. We've shared moments that etched themselves into our hearts: from chaotic group projects and canteen debates with friends to the wisdom of teachers who shaped our dreams. For me, the hardest part of college wasn't the schoolwork-it was being on your own and not knowing who you are. But in this journey, we've learned, grown, and discovered our true selves together. Though paths may diverge and life pulls us apart, these once-in-a-lifetime memories with you all will never fade. Here's to new adventures, chasing our futures with the same fire we found here!

Being the class representative wasn't always easy for me. There were moments when it felt overwhelming, trying to balance responsibilities and handle expectations. At times, I doubted myself, but somehow I kept going and made it through.

Looking back, I'm truly grateful for this experience. It pushed me out of my comfort zone and taught me lessons I'll carry for life.

Thank you and Goodbye.

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

Dear Classmates,

As your class representative- I can confirm that we are known for the "Worst Batch". But somehow we are also average students in terms of our overall performance on academic evaluation. The evening group chats with very little help, unless coming up with a creative insults to share. Yet, every morning we still meet on campus and give cheerful smiles to each other like the group chat never happened. It's our Superpower: Argue with one another like Rivals on-line, but show up as FAMILY off-line. When teachers pose questions in-class, even those who know the answer stay silent-Solidarity? Panic? We will never tell. This was another Superpower we had.

I want to thank ALL the professors for your unwavering patience. I cannot express how much I appreciate all you did for me and our classmates.

To my dearest classmates, thank you for your love and support. Thank you for encouraging me (by nudging me) when I was in need of redirection. You kept me motivated, and you kept reminding me why we are the BEST CLASS: BOTH Malicious & Loyal. I have learned a lot about listening, constructive criticism, and growing up.

We all will remember this class for all the kindness, mischief, humor, laughter and memories we shared. I wouldn't trade us for anything.

As we embark on new journeys and close this chapter of our college days, I wish you all the very best for the future endeavours.

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

As I look back on our college journey, I'm filled with gratitude for the incredible people I've met. To my amazing mates, you've been my support system and study buddies. Late-night library sessions, endless cups of coffee, and laughter-filled memories - I'll treasure them forever. To my professors, your passion for teaching and guidance have shaped my path and inspired me to dream big. You've challenged me to grow and pushed me to excel. This college experience has been a rollercoaster, and I'm grateful to have shared it with such talented and wonderful people. You've made learning a joy, and I'll carry the lessons and memories with me always. Thank you for being part of my story."

Tsoinju DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

As I sit down to write this message, I am reminded of the day I first joined this college. Back then, three years felt like a long journey, and I often wondered when graduation would finally come. But today, standing at this moment, I realize how quickly it all passed almost in the blink of an eye. This journey has taught me something important: no matter how long a phase of life may seem, if you truly live in that moment, you don't just pass time you create memories, experiences, and lessons that stay with you for a lifetime.

This was never just a journey of lectures, attendance, or exams. It was a journey of growth that cannot be measured. It taught us how to stand after failure, how to move forward despite doubt, and how to find strength-not only within ourselves but also in the people around us. The laughter in classrooms, the silence when teachers asked questions, and the pressure of submitting last-minute assignments these are the moments that truly defined our time here.

Serving as your Class Representative was not just a role I held it was a responsibility that shaped me in ways I never expected. It taught me that leadership is not about authority or recognition, but about patience when things go wrong, clarity when confusion arises, and responsibility even when no one is watching. And if there is one thing I have learned, it is that true leadership may be quiet, but its impact is powerful. There were moments when things didn't go as planned. There were misunderstandings, disagreements, and challenges that could have divided us. But instead, they became the reasons we grew stronger together. Because in the end, what defines us is not how easy the journey was, but how we carried ourselves through the difficult moments.

Today, as we stand on the edge of graduation, we are no longer the same individuals who once entered this college. We have changed. We have grown. We have learned-both directly and indirectly. We have become more aware, more capable, and more prepared for the world ahead. There will be times when life challenges your patience, questions your strength, and tests your limits. But remember you have already come this far. You have already proven that you can endure, adapt, and rise. Do not be afraid of uncertainty. Do not wait for the perfect moment, create it. Carry with you the courage to take risks, the discipline to stay consistent, and the humility to keep learning. Most importantly, never lose the strength to stand for yourself.

Let us not walk away from this college as just another group of friends who completed a course. Let us leave as classmates who made an impact, who stood together, who refused to give up, and chose growth. Let our story not end here, but continue in everything we do beyond this place. Because this is not where our journey ends, but this is where we begin to define our future.

Finally, "Dream because if you don't have a dream, how can you make your dreams come true".

"Some friendships are timeless, they grow stronger with every memory"

Dear mates, thank you for choosing me as your representative.

To be able to represent you all was a privilege but also chaotic. I had never seen human monkeys in my life nor had I ever received so much scolding from teachers in my entire life until I met you all. Everyday came with new entertainment, complaints and challenges. We were not very enthusiastic in studies but very energetic when it came to gatherings and picnics and whatever plans we made, we always succeeded. They say "enjoy your college life because it happens only once" and you guys really took it personally and made it happen.

Never failed to disappoint sir Seyie and get his scoldings, sometimes even made him walk out of the class...You guys are truly maniacs.

Looking back, I realized that this classroom was more than just a place to study...it was a place where we grew together, laughed, complained about assignments, got scoldings and created memories we didn't even realize would become so special.

I'm grateful for every moment with you all. Thank you for trusting me throughout this journey and making my college life a memorable one.

Cheers to the memories we made.
Adieu dear mates.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

As this chapter of our journey comes to an end, it feels both heavy and beautiful to put these words down. Time has passed so quickly, yet it has given us memories that will last a lifetime.

We came together as strangers, but we leave as something much more—friends, companions, and a part of each other's stories. The laughter we shared, the challenges we faced, and the moments we thought would never end have now become memories we will carry wherever we go.

Life is taking each of us on different paths, but I hope we never forget where we started and the people who walked beside us along the way. No matter how far we go, a part of us will always remain here, in these moments we created together. May we all find success, happiness, and the courage to chase our dreams.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

Being a class representative was a game-changer for me! I learned to juggle responsibilities, stay humble, and boost my self-confidence. Big shoutout to my co-CR Kevi for being super helpful and supportive throughout, I wouldn't have handled it without him. Also, thanks to my classmates for trusting me with the role. Earned some awesome relationships and trust along the way. Grateful for the experience.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
SECHŪ CAMPUS

Don't you think our batch have experienced too many traumatic and thrilling events ??? Above all, Isn't it concerning how we adapted to those events and scenarios quickly? Like ...its normal to happen, well...situations compelled us to do so, ain't it? Anyway, we've come this far, lets all go till the end. I came across a quotation that goes "If you want something really bad and you cannot sleep because of it, you're so distracted of it and its just irritating you, that means the future you already has it" ~ Dineshzone.

Doesn't make any sense, right? But it's not a crime to hope for such things to happen. Yeah?

Dear lecturers, thank you all for everything you've done for us. We can never be more grateful. Thank you for enduring our chapri attitudes, it is all through your guidance and encouragements that we became this fine Ladies and Gentlemen we are today.

Dear batchmates, I pray that we all find Success in a way or the other. Let's make it so that failures are our stepping stones and trail cards before our victory.

Dear juniors, please be kind to yourself and make some good memories. In your college life, there will be some people who will call themselves 'Your Friends', they will invite you for random plans and trips. It's very important that you agree and join the chaos. It's okay to make mistakes, cause you learn something. I wish you all the very best.

As the class representative of the 6th Semester, it is indeed both an honor and a privilege to pen down this message.

My dear mates, our journey at Baptist College has been one filled with growth, challenges, and unforgettable memories. From our first day as uncertain newcomers to becoming confident final-year students, we have learned not only from our books but also from each other. The friendships we built, the lessons we shared, and the experiences we gained will remain with us long after we leave these college walls.

This final year marks not just the end of an academic chapter, but the beginning of new paths and opportunities. Each one of us carries dreams, ambitions, and the values shaped by this institution. As we step into the future, let us carry forward the spirit of unity, resilience, and integrity that defined our time here.

On behalf of the class, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to our teachers, mentors, and the college administration for their constant guidance and support. And to my fellow classmates—thank you for making this journey meaningful and memorable.

May we all find success in our endeavors and continue to make a positive difference wherever we go.

an ADVICE that INSPIRED you

Take life seriously but not too seriously,
nobody gets out alive anyway.

~ Baue Jemphang

I'll congratulate you even if you get last, as long as you did your best,
there's nothing
more to ask for.

~ Jasmine Y Konyak

Comparison steals happiness, focus on your own path.

~ Kekhriezhakuo Theinuo

Sleep on time.
Still ignoring it
daily, but yeah,
very inspiring.

~ Mutsilu Phesao

I am nothing
without God, trust
Him and your life will change.

~ Chenithung Odyuo

Don't wait for the right time. The time is going to pass
anyway; might as well spend it chasing what you love.

~ Jyoti Kumari

Be kind to everyone, you never know what someone is going through.

~ Keveinii Rapubamai

Believe in yourself, even when no one else does. Your journey is yours, and every small step matters.

~ Peching C

Reality is for people who lack imagination.

~ Huvotolu Puro

Stay consistent,
even when no one is watching.

~ Keduovinu Sanchu

Be a student for life.
Everyone you meet knows something you don't.

~ Md. Ashique Shah

Don't wait for the perfect moment, take the moment and make it perfect.

~ Meciesienuo Pfukha

Avoid constant comparison and focus on your own growth.
Everyone's journey unfolds at a different pace, and meaningful progress comes from consistency, self-awareness, and a clear sense of direction.

~ Pikavi Wotsa

Vienna- Billy Joel.

~ Pokyemienla Walling

Do not do anything carelessly. Do everything intentionally and try to do it as well
as you can.

~ Sanglitola Chang

Never give up on yourself.

~ Subenro Odyuo

At the end of the day, it's just you and your courage that get you through it all.

~ Tangpai Konyak

Do it for your future self.

~ Vepone

Your only limit is your mind.

~ Wangshiyapang Ozukum

Trust yourself
even when the world doubts you, it taught me that real strength comes from within,
not from other's approval.

~ Y Chaanglemla

the Room

Chenithung Odyuo

There is a room-
not built only with walls and a roof,
but with tears, prayers, and quiet confessions.

A room where countless hearts have gathered,
where fears are whispered,
where broken souls have cried,
and where secrets once hidden are gently laid before God.

It is a room of forgiveness,
a room overflowing with grace.
A room where burdens grow lighter and joy begins to rise again.

In this room,
people feel alive.

Here, sins are confessed,
hearts are restored,
and Jesus moves quietly
in ways no eyes can fully see.

It is a room where tomorrow's worries fade,
where for a moment
nothing matters more than the presence of Christ.

A room of affirmation
for the weary.
A room of encouragement
for the discouraged.

A room of correction,
where hearts are shaped
and lives are transformed.

Here voices rise in song,
feet move in praise,
and like David before the Lord,
people dance with joy.

It is a room for prayer,
a room for rest,
a room where peace
settles gently on troubled hearts.

Friendships are formed here.
Bonds grow stronger here.
Brothers find sisters,
and strangers become family.

It is a refuge
for the lost,
for the tired souls
searching for hope.

In this room,
the Word of God is shared,
faith is strengthened,
and miracles quietly unfold.

And though it may look like just another office-

This is my BCF room,
where lives are changed,
stories are rewritten,
and people
find Jesus.

Message

Dear Class of 2026,
The closure of college education opens up for you a path to new experiences. You came as novices and you are leaving evolved and equipped to step into a wider and more challenging reality. In this reality, you will require keeping a firmer grasp on the core values you have picked up through education as well as from experiences gained outside the formal curriculum. Take with you the memories of the 'pretty jolly chapters', lessons learnt and resilience built through tussles and challenges.

Be deliberate, make a conscious effort to be on the path of growth and renewal with courage and confidence focussing on your strengths. And as you navigate through life to fulfill your purpose, if you should, at any time find yourself at a crossroads, take a little pause, be reminded that the choice you make will shape what comes next. Wish you a bright future!

an ADVICE that INSPIRED you

Be yourself,
everyone else is already taken

~ Aimei Chungtok

You define your own life, don't let other people
write your script.

~ Aluitolie

Never wait for tomorrow when the opportunity is in your hand .

~ Alumla Sangtam

Never give up.

~ Atsasatho Tsuozary

My grandfather's last word, during one of our quiet time, he looked at me and said 'Study hard with all your heart, no matter what.' It's stuck with me ever since,
reminding me to give my best in everything I do.

~ Avibo Sumi

Do it scared, but do it anyway.

~ C. Shingshah Phom

Shoot for the moon;
even if you miss,
you'll land among the stars - worth
the risk, right?

~ Chanchibeni Lotha

Don't ask for the price just go grasp everything you want.

~ Chemingsomba

There is no time,
do it now.

~ Chemnei Konyak

It is more blessed to give than to receive. Acts 20:35.

~ Chomangla

Do the hard part now, you'll thank yourself later.

~ Chumren W Kikon

Kindness is never wasted,
but it is often tested.
Your goodness will draw both the sincere and the selfish those who value your light, and those who seek to use it. Wisdom lies not in hardening your heart, but in sharpening your understanding. Learn to read intentions as carefully as you offer compassion. Remain kind,
but not naively generous,
but not unguarded. Let your goodness be a choice guided by awareness, not a weakness shaped by others.

~ D Shoiching Konyak

Creativity is intelligence having fun.

~ Elilo Emungrui

Stay true , even when it's hard .

~ Elvis Ngatamai

Focus on progress,
not perfection.

~ Etolu

Failure is the pillars of success.

~ Eyingbeni Tsopoe

My mom's advice to stay humble quote from James 4:10
"Humble yourselves
before the Lord, and He will light you up", has always inspired me to be humble, knowing God will lift me up someday.

~ Kebapeule Iheilung

Don't compare your life to others. There's no comparison between the sun
and the moon, they shine when it's their time.

~ Kekhriesano Mekro

Improvise ,
Adapt, Overcome.

~ Kelengunuo Rio

Faith makes the impossible, possible.

~ Kethole-e Savino

Until it's done,
tell none.

~ Kevisesieno Rhitso

You can never be behind in your own life.

~ Kezevinuo Kets

Keep going, even if progress feels slow. Consistency beats talent.

~ Khaikho P

Better to do it than regret.

~ Khrielakuonuo Chatsu

You can never achieve anything
if you are lazy.

~ Khrietuonuo Yhome

Life is not perfect but your outfit can be.

~ Khriezohunuo Christina

Sometimes you don't fit in with the crowd because you belong on the stage.

~ Kungsiliu

Keep going no matter what, this simple yet profound line reminds me of father's wisdom
during tough times.

~ Langpei K

Keep moving forward
despite the challenges and trials.

~ Leang Konyak

Always be kind and generous since we never know what the other person is going through.

~ Loiyong Hentokhu

Hard work beats talent.

~ Manvu s Phom

Stop waiting for the right moment you'll wait forever. Just go, mess up, learn and go again.

~ Marry

Regret is More Painful Than Failure.

~ Martha Jingru

Surpass your limits.

~ Mhachoni V Murry

The hardest lesson was this: no one is coming to make it easier-you have to become stronger.

~ Nükuvelü Swüro

Life gets better when you stop taking everything personally.

~ Pekhro Kapfo

Don't Give Up! Water Breaks Rock, Not Because Of It's Strength But Because Of It's Consistency.

~ Pongchimthong Yimchung

Everything happens for a reason, so trust God's plan.

~ Rosy A Humtsoe

Life will have challenges, but those challenges help us to grow stronger and wiser.

~ Tiasenla Imchen

What are you afraid of losing, when nothing in this world belongs to you.

~ Toshila L Yimchunger

Chase the experience not just the degree.

~ Ututholu Keyho

Live and cherish every moment, for tomorrow is never promised.

~ Wongto Chingmak

I trust that God is guiding my path and it doesn't have to make sense to others.

~ Yongten Lepla

It is always better to do things now then to neglect them.

~ Zisela T.

Do the best you can until you know better. Then when you know better, do better.

A Heart Full of Goodbyes

Kebapeule Theilung

As I near the end of my college journey,
My heart feels heavy,
This time, not because of exams, but because this season will soon be over.
All shall leave on their own paths,
For better or for worse,
We'll walk alone, where life leads us.

We met as strangers,
We might become strangers once more.
My heart feels heavier knowing
We might never meet or hear from each other again.
Lives get busier, responsibilities will grow,
We'll be scattered across miles, lost in the grind.
We might not know when one achieves,
When one fights for life or dies.

I thought the world was small,
But now it feels vast and wide,
As we move away from this season,
Striving to do better in the next.
First day of college felt like forever,
But, it's actually the memories that will remain.
Hope all lives well.

Forever Still

Lizela T.

You aren't a shadow or a "was" from the past,
To us, you're a "still"-a love made to last.
The world feels thinner, the light's changed its tone,
But in every small moment, your presence is shown.

Some days the weight of the loss is intense,
Others, it's a hum that makes perfect sense.
But love never pauses and doesn't fade out,
It stays with us always, of that there's no doubt.

While Heaven is where you are taking your rest,
We try to live well, at our best.
Never forgotten, from you we won't part,
You live on forever, kept deep in our heart.

My Happy World (Dolly, my pet)

Ututholu Keyho

I am just a village girl, town a distant mile away,
Dolly and I were born on the same day,
Fated to share cheerful note each single day.
White as snow, she wiggle fluffy tail,
My trust she never fail.

My best friend will drop me till school gate,
After school, we march home playing jugat,
Fruits, vegetables, grains she only eat,
Sometimes I play dead to see her reaction,
I weep, then she'll yelp and sniff at my action.

On my sick bed, she stay by my side,
At times firewood she do fetch,
Risk her life to save my hen from duck,
Bandage I, her injured mouth; my tears roll,
Happy as can be, her wound heal soon.

Most nightfall danger she sense and woof loud.
My neighbourhood-always safe from scoundrels.

Simply, You

Kevisesieno Rita

Stop worrying about what other people think of you and focus on yourself instead. Focus on what makes you happy; focus on what makes your soul feel at peace. You are your biggest commitment, so start loving your flaws, your awkwardness, your weirdness, your intensity and your vulnerability. Life becomes so much more fulfilling when you are simply yourself. The world keeps spinning whether people understands you or not, so why not make this next trip around the sun about you?

A Divine Surprise

Aluitolie Diswang

God's plan unfolded, despite my doubt,
Led me back to a place I'd shout.
A double mind, confused and grey,
But He knew best, in His perfect way.

Three days flew by, like a fleeting dream,
Last night's worship, something sparked within me.
BCF's prayer, a gentle touch divine,
God's love poured in, my heart felt so fine.
In that moment, peace and calm did come,
God's presence wrapped me, like a warm, safe home.
Gratitude swells, for that camp's sweet bond,
A family in faith, forever beyond.

Though we'll part ways, memories stay,
God's love remains, come what may.
A Metamorphosis, in His loving care,
Forever changed, with love that's truly rare.

College Days, Lasting Bonds

Aluitolie Diswang

The day I entered my first college scene,
My heart was racing, I felt quite nervous,
I didn't know anyone, it was all new,
I wondered if I'd find my place, or just fade away.

Until I met you, everything changed,
You were all loud, crazy and fun,
I was the quiet one, trying to blend in,
but felt out of place.
But you pulled me in with your crazy ways,
And now we're a fam in college days.

We've shared our journey, wild and carefree,
But now I'm sad to say goodbye, the college days are done.
Croft fam, a bond that's strong and true,
Memories will linger on, the fun we've had,
the laughter we've won.
Grateful from the day I met you to the end,
Croft fam, you'll always be my crew.

Two years ago, we met on a random day. Not knowing we would create so many memories together and become close friends like this.

My people... Thank you all so much for being my constant supporters and for all the love. I'm forever grateful to have met you all because when I was far away from home, God sent me people who felt like my home.

Tonija- keeper of all our Smiles.

Ami- The aesthetic girl, beautiful inside and out.

Ali- Our crybaby with the kindest heart.

Jubi- The one who feeds us delicious food, beautiful inside and out. Love you guys...

Message

My dear students,

It has been a privilege to teach and journey with you. Watching each of you learn, grow, and rise above challenges in your own unique ways has been deeply rewarding. As you step into a new chapter of your lives, carry with you the lessons you have gathered and the values that have shaped you. Embrace each moment with a grateful heart, and move forward with quiet confidence. Stay curious, believe in yourselves, and never cease striving for excellence. May you discover your _Ikigai_ - your reason for being. The future is yours - go forth and make it meaningful and impactful.

an ADVICE that INSPIRED you

A king may move a man, a father may claim a son, but remember that even when those who move you be king, or men of power, your soul is in your keeping alone.
(King Baldwin IV)
~ David Odyuo

What is the use of being famous on the earth when heaven doesn't know your name.
~ Eren L Kithan

Do something today that your future self will thank you for.

~ M. Wongkhum Jangru

Prioritize personal growth without actively seeking external validation.

~ Neiphrezho Seyie

Be patient with your journey ~ God's timing is different from yours.

~ Niojikhiong R Yimchunger

Don't rush your becoming.

your 'GO-TO' Survival ITEM

- ◇ The Bible. It is my guide book. David Odyuo
- ◇ When things get wild, pause, breathe and assess. Eren L Kithan
- ◇ A lighter - a tiny tool that sparks big ideas. M. Wongkhum Jangru
- ◇ A lighter, to ignite a fire and a smartphone for essential communication. Neiphrezo Seyie
- ◇ Hope is my survival tool; it is the light I carry through my darkest days. Niojikhiong R Yimchunger
- ◇ Curiosity. It keeps me alive in any situation. Sedevituo Kreditsu
- ◇ Calm mindset (no unnecessary moves. Just the right decision, at the right time). Shakhkam Konyak
- ◇ A smartphone with a portable power bank. Weri Kapfo

Rich in life because...

- ◇ I've got the love and grace of our saviour which no money can buy. David Odyuo
- ◇ Appreciating the little things. Eren L Kithan
- ◇ the moments I seize and the life I live. M. Wongkhum Jangru
- ◇ I associate myself with people of good quality, for it is better to be alone than in a bad company. Neiphrezo Seyie
- ◇ College didn't just educate me, it enriched my life. Niojikhiong R Yimchunger
- ◇ I've grown through what I've gone through. Sedevituo Kreditsu
- ◇ Doing things that feels worth it, not just things that look impressive. Shakhkam Konyak
- ◇ I still have my parents. Weri Kapfo

Today, we pause at a bittersweet moment, where the memories we hold close meet the dreams we are about to chase, and every ending softly transforms into a new beginning.

To my dear classmates, we walked into this place carrying uncertainty, hope and a thousand unspoken questions. We came from different backgrounds, with different stories and different dreams, where we didn't know each other and didn't know what the journey ahead would hold. But slowly and gently, this place brought us together and turned into something much deeper 'family'.

We have seen each other at our best and at our worst through stress, pressure, achievements, and failures. We have celebrated victories together, no matter how small, and stood beside each other when things didn't go as planned. It was never just about studying or completing a course, but it was about growing together, learning not just lessons from books, but lessons about life, friendship, and resilience.

I will carry with me the sound of our laughter, the way time seemed to pass so quickly when we were together, and the countless little moments that didn't seem important then but mean everything to this day. And now, as we move forward into new chapters, I pray that life blesses each one of you with happiness, success and peace. May you find your purpose, follow your passions, and never forget how capable and special you truly are. And this may be the end of one chapter, but it is also the beginning of many stories waiting to be written.

Goodbye for now, until life brings our paths together again.

With love and gratitude,

Shahkham Konyak.

Timeless Bond

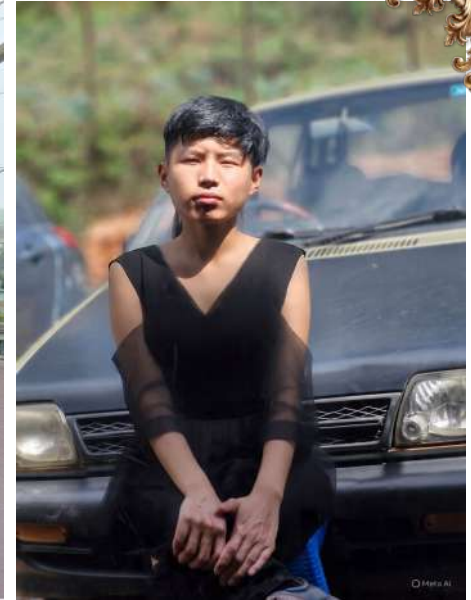

No money for tea,
we pooled our last.
Four straws, loud laughs,
worried left in the past.

First bench kings,
roasting with glee.
Woke up late,
missed classes carefree.

No cash, no plans,
Just joy(L) in the air.
Proxy notes whispered,
true friend laid bare.

No riches then,
just hearts intertwined.
College friends forever,
The best treasure we find.

Someone once asked me, 'As a Christian, would you forgive the person who murdered your entire family?' I didn't hesitate to say no. I asked,
'Can he repent? Would that make me feel okay?' Then they told me something that stayed with me - that I don't always have to forgive. That answer felt honest. It made me realize forgiveness can't be forced.
Some pain just needs time and it's okay to admit that.

A photograph of a pond with several large, smooth, reddish-brown rocks in the foreground. The water is dark green, and there are many lily pads floating on the surface. Some lily pads are green, while others are brown and decaying. The background is slightly blurred, showing more rocks and foliage.

Chalk to Crossroads

From flattering steps in kindergarten halls,
Where crayons uttered what words could not,
To corridors of thought and silent growth -
I stand where ending turn to dawn.

Unknowing, unguarded, quietly afraid
Of unseen paths that summon me forth;
Never had I convinced
Life would shape me thus.

Through years both gentle and severe,
I gathered truths-soft as whispers,
Yet fierce as storm that forged my soul-
Lesson none had warned me of.

Fleeting bonds, like passing season;
Failure, carving hidden strength;
A silent wars within the self-
All formed the being I have become.

Now I linger at fate's uncertain threshold,
My heart between fear and faith;
Through my student days fade into silence,
Their echoes remain - forever mine.

The Choice Longila L Sangtam

If you get a chance to choose
To choose the author of your life,
Whom are you choosing?
Before you opt for,
Here's a plan....
I know a man, oh He's so wonderful,
Wait... He knows you as well.
God - Have you heard of Him?
He's a wonderful Man ; so much full of love
The best writer you'll ever have Oh ! How I wish to give you a part of my heart , just so you'll know why Him?
I was lost but He found me
So full of grace and mercy and love.
But hey , there's a good news
You can know Him more too .
He left you a book written centuries ago.
You'll fall in love with Him.
In this "roller coaster" life , let Him hold the pen to your life .
Whom are you letting be your author ?
It's your choice.

The Camaraderie Lutafi Thurr

The camaraderie we had had been lost Dust till dawn, remembering y'all in my thoughts
The quaint smiles that we had together
It is a nostalgic recall!

As the years elapsed, the mature we are
We slipped away for our scholarly pursuit
We bugged off for our charge
To endeavour ourselves oneday.

Lively waiting for y'all to endeavour someday
Retort without bitter end Someday we shall assemble to recall our nostalgic memories.

A MEMORABLE TRIP TO RAJASTHAN

Ngapam Konyak

Our History Department trip to Rajasthan was not only an educational tour but a journey filled with unforgettable memories. Accompanied by our professors, more than thirty of us began this adventure from Dimapur, filled with excitement and curiosity.

Our first stop at Agra introduced us to the breathtaking Taj Mahal, followed by visits to the Agra Fort and the grand Buland Darwaza. As we entered Rajasthan, history unfolded before us. In Jaipur, we explored the magnificent Amber Fort, Hawa Mahal, and City Palace Jaipur. In Jodhpur, the grandeur of many historical place amazed us. Our journey to Jaisalmer and the golden Jaisalmer Fort, along with an evening in the Thar Desert, became one of the most joyful and lively parts of the trip.

Beyond the places, it was the people who made the journey special. Our Head of Department guided us with deep knowledge and endless energy-never tired of either teaching or shopping. Our Miss, who said she would not shop much, surprised us by shopping the most. Our Sir would wake up early every morning to explore local markets and bring fresh fruits and snacks, while most of us chose sleep over such discipline.

On our return, our stop at Delhi added another beautiful chapter to our journey. We were overjoyed when our teachers treated us to Naga food, which we relished as if it were a taste of home after a long time. Shopping at Sarojini Nagar Market was a dream come true for many, and travelling by the Delhi Metro for the first time made it even more exciting. As we explored on our own, some of us even lost our way and ended up paying extra for autos, but these small misadventures only added to the charm of the day.

Though our professors encouraged us to learn from every place, we also came for enjoyment-and in this journey, we found both. We are deeply grateful to our professors for their patience, care, and constant support despite our chaotic behaviour.

This trip, filled with history, laughter, and shared experiences, will always remain one of the most cherished memories of our college life.

The View from the Top of The Stairs

Lanonpa

There's something strangely reflective about the final semester. For the past two and a half years, time felt like a slow, deliberate climb. Each semester was another floor, another stretch of stairs we had to conquer without fully knowing what waited above. We climbed with heavy backpacks filled not just with textbooks, but with uncertainty, self-doubt, and the overwhelming newness of it all.

Back then, every step felt significant. The first lecture, the first sleepless night powered by instant noodles and anxiety. The first friendships that turned strangers into something that felt like home.

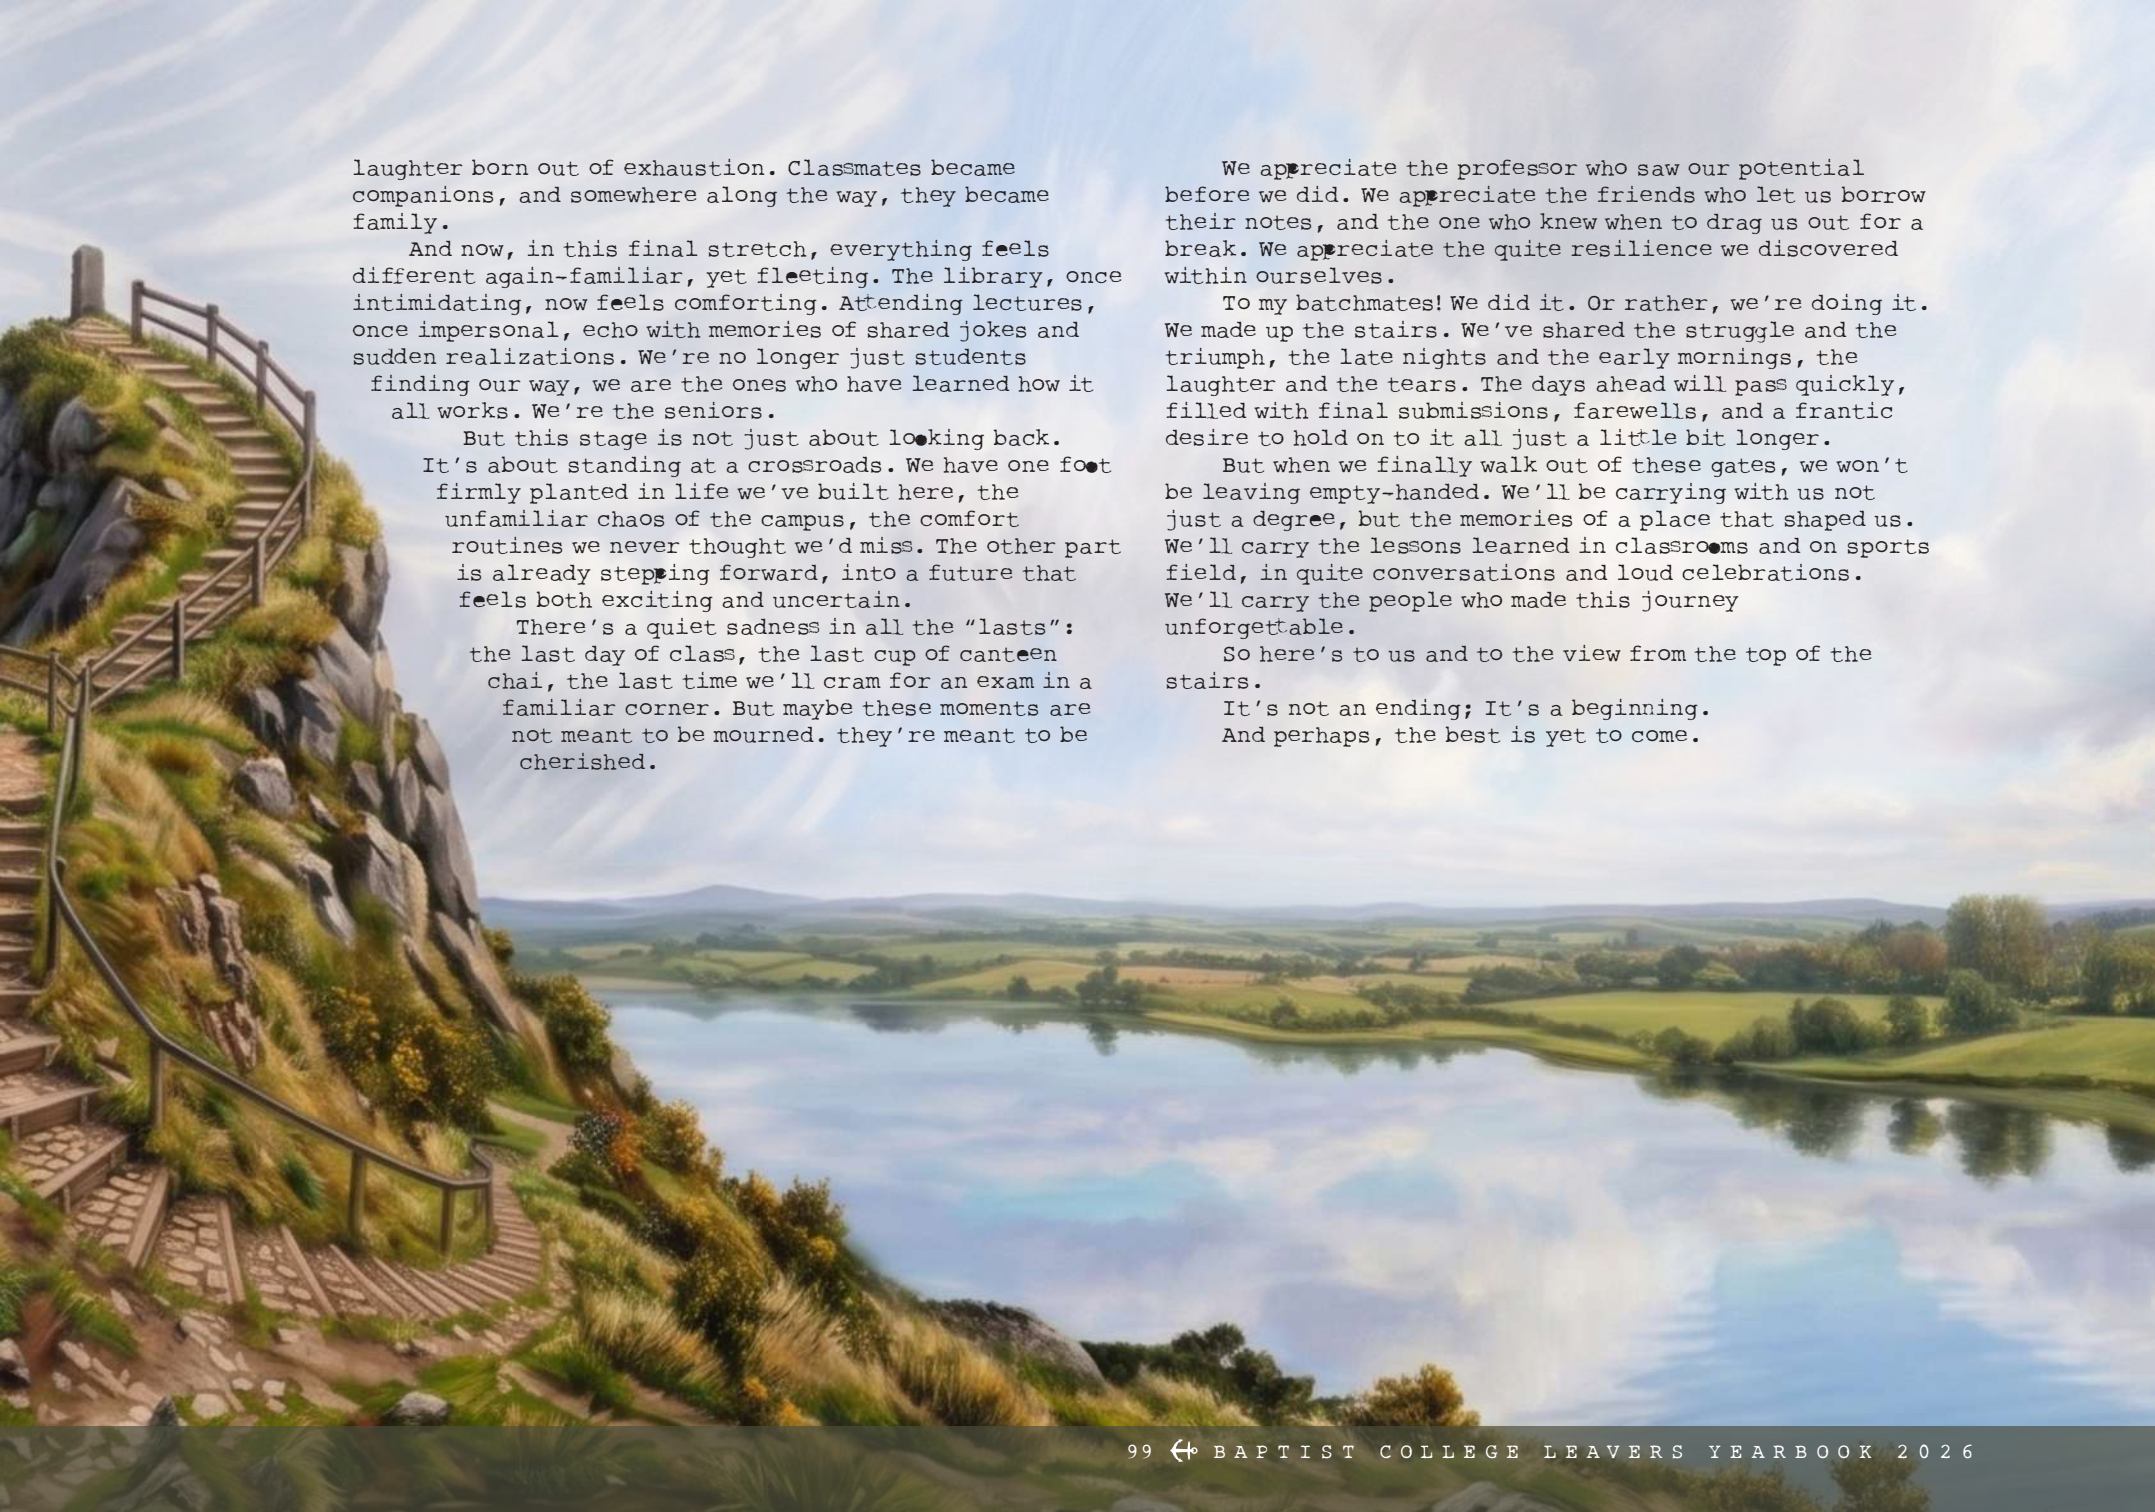

Now, as a third-year student in my final semester, I find myself standing at the top of those stairs reflecting on how far I've come. The climb isn't over, there's still a final sprint to the roof but I paused to catch my breath. And from here, the view is different from what I imagined.

It's not the view I thought I'd have. I once envisioned this moment would feel triumphant, like reaching a summit. Instead, it feels quieter, deeper, like looking back and seeing a mosaic of moments, both extraordinary and ordinary, that somehow brought me here.

I see us as first-years; wide-eyed, uncertain, holding onto campus maps as if they were lifelines. We weren't just navigating classrooms; we were learning how to exist in a completely new world. Sitting alone in the halls felt intimidating. A sudden monsoon shower felt like a crisis. We called home with endless complaints that now seem almost endearing. Slowly, we learned the rhythm of this place. Its shortcuts, its silence, its hidden corners.

Then came the second year, the year of confidence. We knew things. We knew where to find the best chai, the quietest study spots, and just how long we could procrastinate before a deadline and still survive. This was the year of late-night conversations, shared struggles, and laughter born out of exhaustion. Classmates became companions, and somewhere along the way, they became family.

And now, in this final stretch, everything feels different again-familiar, yet fleeting. The library, once intimidating, now feels comforting. Attending lectures, once impersonal, echo with memories of shared jokes and sudden realizations. We're no longer just students finding our way, we are the ones who have learned how it all works. We're the seniors.

But this stage is not just about looking back. It's about standing at a crossroads. We have one foot firmly planted in life we've built here, the unfamiliar chaos of the campus, the comfort routines we never thought we'd miss. The other part is already stepping forward, into a future that feels both exciting and uncertain.

There's a quiet sadness in all the "lasts": the last day of class, the last cup of canteen chai, the last time we'll cram for an exam in a familiar corner. But maybe these moments are not meant to be mourned. They're meant to be cherished.

We appreciate the professor who saw our potential before we did. We appreciate the friends who let us borrow their notes, and the one who knew when to drag us out for a break. We appreciate the quite resilience we discovered within ourselves.

To my batchmates! We did it. Or rather, we're doing it. We made up the stairs. We've shared the struggle and the triumph, the late nights and the early mornings, the laughter and the tears. The days ahead will pass quickly, filled with final submissions, farewells, and a frantic desire to hold on to it all just a little bit longer.

But when we finally walk out of these gates, we won't be leaving empty-handed. We'll be carrying with us not just a degree, but the memories of a place that shaped us. We'll carry the lessons learned in classrooms and on sports field, in quite conversations and loud celebrations. We'll carry the people who made this journey unforgettable.

So here's to us and to the view from the top of the stairs.

It's not an ending; It's a beginning.
And perhaps, the best is yet to come.

Finally, we are graduating. It feels like only a few weeks ago that we began in 2023 and entered our first semester, uncertain of where life would take us. Graduation feels like standing at the edge of a cliff - both exciting and unknown. But that is the beauty of it. Life is not only about destination but the journey. We do not need to have everything figured out, sometimes, it is enough to embrace the moment, stay true to ourselves and enjoy the path ahead.

Joel Thurnary

Friends aren't just the people we know for the longest time but also in short period of time.

Friends are families. With friends, we can be ourselves without fear and not care what people say about us. Without friends, we cannot enjoy our youth life to the fullest and will be the victims of an introverted life, always stuck in our shell, unknown, and worrying our dear parents for they want us to be happy. Some people do not have any idea about friendship at the beginning but eventually become the ones who cherish the bond the most!

Friends are those who know how weird and mischievous we are but they don't judge and are always ready to give a helping hand without a second thought. They can make us laugh and smile in our bad days and give us the freedom to be ourselves. They can even listen to the same stories multiple times without complaining. Friendship is a Green Zone for everybody where we get enough tight hugs and peace. Friends might not have or give solutions to our problems but they are good listeners. I am proud because I have this kind of friends.

I didn't expect my college life to be very fun, because I came alone but ended up with weird people like me with whom I can be myself. My college life was very less and my actual-self 'Khongten Yenlungthu' was more. In these three years, I met weird, mischievous and humorous people. It felt like I found my lost twins. These three years just finished in a blink of an eye for me, but we made good memories, accepted each other, and shared both good and bad advices but which were fully supported and accepted in seconds. After graduation, everybody will experience entering the real world, so my dear friends and classmates, all the best and give your best for your victory and achievement will make me proud. Thank you so much for being my Classmates.

Khongten Yenlungthu

My Journey as a Backbencher

College life has honestly been one of the best parts of my life, and being a backbencher made it even more memorable. The last bench was never just a place to sit for me. It was a spot full of laughter, fun, friendship, and memories that I will always carry with me.

Many people think backbenchers do not learn anything, but that was never true in my case. I learned a lot, sometimes in funny ways. Getting scolded by teachers for talking too much, coming late, or not paying attention taught me discipline and responsibility. At that time it felt serious, but now those moments make me smile.

College was not only about books, classes, and exams for me. It was also about learning how to handle pressure, manage time, accept mistakes, and improve myself little by little. Every day taught me something new.

During exam time, the late-night phone calls became the most interesting part. Full of panic, laughter, last-minute questions, and trying to understand one whole chapter in a few hours. Behind every phone call and every friend circle, there was always that one person who said, "I didn't study" or "I haven't even started yet," but somehow ended up cracking the exam and we all called them snakes.

The best part of college life was the friends I made. They were there in every happy moment, every stressful day, every last-minute study plan, and every joke that made the classroom brighter. Without them, this journey would never have been the same.

Today, when I look back, I feel thankful for everything for the laughter, the scoldings, the lessons, and the memories. I sat on the last bench, but I learned that your place in the classroom never decides your place in life. Your present position never limits your future achievements. So dream high, because there is always another step toward achieving great things.

Tears of Pride

A boy from land so far away,
Came to the city one hopeful day.
With tired eyes and dreams so wide,
He carried his struggles deep inside.

He wished to study, rise and grow,
To escape the life he used to know.
A life his parents silently bore,
Filled with hardships, pain and more.

As years went by, he came to see,
His dream was never only for "me".
It was for the hands that raised him right,
For parents who sacrifice day and night.

Now all he wants before life end,
Is to make his parents proud again.
To see their tears fall not from pain,
But from joy after years of rain.

He does not dream of wealth alone,
Nor riches proudly to be shown.
He wants his success to softly say,
"Your sacrifice were not in vain."

Yet sometimes in silence, fear takes hold,
As the night grow darker and colder.
He wonders softly, with hidden pain,
"Will I ever become someone one day?"

But every struggle that he survives,
Is already shaping his future life.
For a heart that carries love so true,
Will someday shine the whole world through.

The Moments in Between

It's strange how something that once felt so long now feels like it ended too quickly. What we thought was just another phase quietly turned into moments we didn't realize we would miss.

College life was never just about classes, lectures or exams. It was about everything in between. The unplanned moments that meant the most. It feels like standing at the edge of an ending while stepping into something new, where some friendships had just begun even as college life was coming to an end, while others had been there from the very start. Between lectures, deadlines, exams, and the constant pressure to keep up, there were moments that made it all worth it. Laughing over the smallest things, sharing reels during lectures, bunking classes for a cup of tea, stressing together before exams, and still carrying that stress even after they were over. These became the memories that mattered the most.

Somewhere in all of this, I was also trying to hold on to my own passions while making space for the people who made this journey unforgettable. Not always perfectly or consistently, but in a way that made it all feel real. Looking back now, I realize that choosing this College didn't just shape my path, it brought the right people into my life at the right time. College taught me responsibility, but friendships gave meaning to everything in between. It wasn't perfect, but it was honest and that is what made it unforgettable. I have learned more than just academics. I have learned from moments, from people, from everything we shared. This place gave me memories I didn't know I needed and people I will never forget. Thank you everyone.

The image features a central, rectangular piece of aged, yellowed paper with a torn, deckled edge. It is positioned against a background of dynamic, swirling brushstrokes in various shades of blue and white, creating a sense of movement and depth. The paper contains two lines of text: the top line is in a small, black, sans-serif, all-caps font, and the bottom line is in a large, black, elegant serif font.

Message

To the class of 2026

Today you stand at a threshold, looking out at the expanse of what comes next. Behind you lie the years of structured environment with a syllabus, a rubric, and a bell to tell you when it is time to move on to the next thing. And ahead lies the unscripted world that is entirely yours to define.

Don't be terrified. Go out there, chase your dream and make us proud-not by becoming what the world expects, but by becoming exactly who you are meant to be. Be the architect of your own destiny.

And always remember the people in the quiet corners of your life who pushed you when pressure mounted. It will keep you humble in your successes and grounded in your failures.

t all starts with a Hello! I can still picture orientation day : excited, lost, staring at a new campus, new faces, and no uniforms. Searching for room numbers, while secretly rehearsing how to introduce myself.

The first month was awkward, but the same strangers I sat next to became my crazy partners and project teammates.

At first, I counted days to weekends thinking final year was ages away. But three years flew by in a blink - from freshers' day nerves to farewell tears.

We built our gang, found our spots, created routines, projects, presentations, exams, internships, fests, sports, trips, - we survived it all. Time sped up while we were busy clicking more pictures and making memories. Every "last" hits hard. The same campus that felt huge on day one now feels too small to hold all my memories.

Now I'm here - final year, writing yearbook messages, wondering how three years became 'just yesterday'.

Thank you Baptist College for the best chapter of my life.

We came as strangers, leaving as family #BatchOf2023-2026.

The Stranger

One day,
I will meet a stranger.
Not on a distant road,
nor in a crowded city,
but in the quiet reflection of my own life.

He will wear my name,
yet carry different dreams.
The fears that once followed me will no longer know his heart.

The hopes I hold today will have either blossomed or gently faded into wisdom.

The voices that fill my days will become echoes.
The places I call home will become chapters
in a story already told.
And the person reading these words now will exist only in memory.

How strange it is we spend our lives becoming,
never noticing how much we are leaving behind.

With every lesson learned,
a former self disappears.
With every season passed,
another page is turned.
Yet amid the changing years,
one truth remains:

God endures.
When dreams change,
He remains.
When people leave,
He remains.
When time carries us
from one version of ourselves to another,
He remains.
The same faithful God through every beginning,
every ending,
and every step between.

So if I am destined to become a stranger
to the person I am today,
may that stranger be wiser,
kinder, and closer to God.

May he carry gratitude for every blessing,
faith through every trial,
and courage for every road ahead.
And when we finally meet,
I hope he is someone worth becoming.

Kekrosapi Sachi

To my Benchmates

We were the bench that always got punished, always too loud, always a little out of control but somehow, that's where the best memories were made.
Between all the chaos,
laughter, and endless trouble, we built moments I'll never forget. Being the wildest bench in class didn't turn out so bad
after all... it turned out to be the best part.....
IT WAS EVERYTHING.
